

CREA S-30 Section 2. Beginning Poetry (CRN: 30118)

Janet Sylvester PhD, Preceptor in Expository Writing, Harvard University

Students learn and practice the fundamentals of writing poetry, including poetic elements such as rhythm, imagery, diction, and tone and poetic forms such as blank verse, free verse, the ghazal, and the sonnet. Classes will focus on analysis of work from a range of cultures and periods as well as workshops of student writing. Intended for those who write regularly and wish to develop their skills.
